Wireless Communications 'The Martini Effect' (Any time, Any Place, Anywhere!)

Antony Harford

BT Cellenet

The talk will review where we are today from a technology perspective and lead into the key elements that the wireless industries see as the catalysts for the new communications frontier. We will explore the market from the corporate space and also the consumer perspective to show that the investments being deployed and the services currently being used and developed will ultimately change the way in which we all communicate.
